We extend an invitation to NADFAS Societies to come and enjoy a private view of this Exhibition, being held for approximately two months in 2010, commencing 10th May.

This is a new Exhibition, showing influences and effects of the times on various well-known artists of their day.

As some of you will know the large garden at Champs Hill is open frequently for group visits and you may like to bring a picnic lunch to have in the garden (we will offer you more coffee at this time). Should the weather not be kind, it would be possible to have this in the connecting Reception Barn.

Alternatively, you may wish to make different arrangements for lunch, or indeed make another visit in the afternoon. For those of you not familiar with this area we would suggest Chichester Cathedral, Pallant House Gallery at Chichester, St Mary's House at Bramber, or Parham House at Storrington, which is only four miles away.
